Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 12 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Widespread, heavy showers overnight giving a largely dry day. Windy.

This Evening and Tonight:
Early evening scattered showers quickly becoming widespread and heavy as a band of showers moves eastwards. Mostly clearing by morning but showers, mostly light, remaining in places all night. Windy, with costal gales possible. Cold. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Saturday:
A dry day for most, with some sunny spells, but scattered showers, blustery and occasionally heavy, remaining, particularly in the morning. Showers wintry over hills. Windy with coastal gales possible. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Sunday windy with a chance of snow at high elevations. Sunday and Monday starting dry with outbreaks of rain in the afternoon. Tuesday mostly dry with outbreaks of patchy rain.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.